SUNDAY, MARCH 20 | 2PM

Toronto Workmen's Circle
471 Lawrence Ave West

From the Middle Ages up to the present, Yiddish literature was used in novel ways to try to change various aspects of everyday Jewish life. These attempts invariably led to charged controversies which themselves became a part of Jewish literature. Beginning with medieval secular epics, Professor Katz will survey the work of rabbis, missionaries, anti-Semites, modernizers, Yiddishists, Hebraists, 21st century secularists and haredim. dovidkatz.net

Free Admission. Lecture presented in Yiddish.
